Michael Lorimer To Be In Concert Here September 30

Murray Civic Music Association will present Michael Lorimer, brilliant young American classical guitarist in his first concert on September 30.

A young man who became a favorite pupil of Andres Segovia, Lorimer is the first American guitarist to be invited to perform in the Soviet Union where he made such a successful tour in 1975 he has been invited to return in 1976-77.

He began guitar studies when he was ten and by 1963 was taking master classes with the great Andres Segovia.

During the past nine years, Michael Lorimer has been concertizing throughout the United States, Canada and abroad.

His command of wide repertoire has elicited admiration wherever he has played. His special study of Baroque literature has led to performances of early works on original instruments (Baroque guitar and lute).

His own editions have been published by Charles Hansen in a special series called the Michael Lorimer Edition.

Lorimer, along with encouraging and assisting composers to write for guitar, has played a number of contemporary works including the North American premieres of Ohana's "Concerto for Guitar and Orchestra" and Andre Previn's "Guitar Concerto." During the 1975-76 season, he premiered William Bolcom's "Seasons" for solo guitar and played it extensively.

A respected teacher, Lorimer heads the guitar department at the San Francisco Conservatory where he has been teaching for ten years. He has also taught at the University of California at Berkeley and has given master classes throughout the U.S.

Segovia's regard for the young musician was expressed in these words: "I am certain that in a few years his name will be respected and esteemed in the United States and abroad." Lorimer became a Huron artist after being highly recommended.

Teachers Attend Conference This Week At Western

Five teachers from the Murray Area Vocational Education Center are attending the Kentucky Industrial Education Conference at the Western Kentucky University campus, Bowling Green, Monday through Thursday.

Those attending are Harold Grogan, carpentry teacher; Jerry Falwell, appliance repair teacher; Dan Harrell, auto body teacher; Bruce Shaeffer, auto mechanics teacher; and Elmer Sholar, adult auto mechanics teacher. Also attending is James Lawson, coordinator for the Vocational Center.

The main purpose of the conference is to introduce the new industrial education continuum. Dr. James B. Graham, Superintendent of Public Instruction will talk about the conference's purpose. Dr. L. C. McDowell, professor of industrial education, University of Kentucky, will discuss the historical perspective of the industrial education continuum.

Log Home Built In 1932 Near Kentucky Lake Still Standing

Young Morgan and his wife now reside at their farm home on the Pottertown Road near the Pleasant Valley Church of Christ, but their first home was a log house built in 1932 near Boatwright across Kentucky Lake from the Irvin Cobb Resort.

The log house still stands on the land now owned by Edwin Oleskey. The front porch has been torn down, but persons can still see the house by going past Donelson's Grocery and then turning right on a gravel road.

Morgan said the log house has 208

by Segovia.

This outstanding artist can be heard by members of the Murray Civic Music Association on September 30 in Lovett Auditorium.

Memberships may be purchased or reserved by sending requests to Murray Civic Music Association, 101 Westgate Drive, Murray, Ky. 42071.

Individual memberships are $15.; family memberships are $35; student memberships are $7.50. All Murray State University students are admitted on identity cards.

Although the intensive membership drive will begin in September, early membership enrollment is urged by the association because of the rush during the drive.

Corps To Ask $5 Million For Flood Control

MAYFIELD, Ky. (AP) — An Army Corps of Engineers official has said the corps will ask Congress to appropriate over $5 million for flood control work on Mayfield Creek in western Kentucky.

Murray Whitten, assistant to the chief of engineering in the corps' Memphis district, said Monday the proposal is now under study by corps officials in Washington.

The project could begin in about two years, Whitten said, if it is approved and reviewed for "cost and justification."

The project involves clearing a five-mile stretch of the creek from where it enters the Mississippi River near Wickliffe, said Whitten. Silt and debris would be removed in a "snagging and dragging" operation, he said.

A 20-mile stretch upstream would be canalized.

The stream rises in Calloway County near the Kentucky-Tennessee border and drains about 440 square miles in Calloway, Graves, McCracken, Ballard and Carlisle counties.

Floodwater has caused an estimated $10 million a year in crop damage over the last four years, according to local farmers and officials.

The canalization project would cost local governments, who are required to share in the expense, about $770,000, Whitten said.

Hubcap Thefts Reported Here

Murray City Police have reported a total of 20 hubcaps wheelcovers stolen from local automobiles since last Thursday here valued at a total of $950.

The cars have been parked at various places around the city. The sets of wheelcovers have been valued at from $120 to $200 each, according to police.

An investigation is continuing into the disappearance of the wheelcovers.

TO APPEAR HERE — Classical guitarist Michael Lorimer will appear in concert in Murray on Sept. 30 under the auspices of the Murray Civic Music Association. Lorimer's concert is the initial event of this year's concert season.

19 Legion Convention Goers Die From Mysterious Disease

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A mysterious disease has taken the lives of 19 persons who attended an American Legion convention last month and hospitalized 52 others, a state official said today.

State Health Secretary Leonard Bachman told a news conference that doctors and researchers still haven't identified the disease, which has symptoms of fever, headaches, chest pains and lung congestion.

"I think it is most likely a virus, but viral pneumonia is the closest I'd call it now," Bachman said.

But Dr. Jay Satz, head of the state health department's immunology division, said a bacteria could have caused the illness.

Other authorities have suggested swine flu as the possible cause, and investigators from the federal Center for Disease Control in Atlanta were here trying to isolate the cause of the deaths.

Bachman refused to release the names of the three latest victims.

"It may take some time to find all the victims," Bachman said earlier. "I don't think we've gotten all the deaths yet."

The ages of the 16 dead identified earlier ranged in age from 39 to 82. At least one death has been recorded as pneumonia. Autopsies have been ordered in many of the deaths.

Sunny and Mild

Sunny and mild this afternoon. Highs in the low 80s. Clear and cool tonight, with lows in the upper 50s to low 60s. Mostly sunny and a little warmer Wednesday. Highs in the mid to upper 80s. Partly cloudy and mild Thursday.

Fatality Count In Big Thompson Flood Now At 82; More Expected

LOVELAND, Colo. (AP) — Eight helicopters flew into Big Thompson Canyon today, their crews making a follow-up visual sweep for flood survivors, as ground teams assembled to renew the search among mud slides and debris for the dead.

The fatality count stood at 82, but authorities feared the toll would climb far higher.

Air rescue operations were halted abruptly early Monday night after officials said they had flown out all known survivors who wished to leave the devastated canyon.

An estimated 135 persons told rescuers they wanted to stay in motels and mountain homes on high ground where they had ample food and water.

But 10 of those, at Park Terrace Motel about six miles up the canyon toward Estes Park, changed their minds after spending their third night after the flood in the wet and cold

All of the victims suffered the same symptoms, which included fever of up to 107 degrees.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Bachman.

Blood samples and throat swabbings from the victims were sent to state health laboratories in Philadelphia and flown to the federal Center for Disease Control in Atlanta for tests.

It will take two to three days to grow cultures from the samples. These (See Disease, Page 10)

Rocky Mountains, said Capt. John Englebert, chief of operations for the Larimer County Sheriff's Department. He said they are to be flown out today.

Contrary to predictions by the National Weather Service, skies were blue and bright over the canyon today, and an Air Force pilot at a makeshift helicopter landing pad in a farmer's field said flying conditions were "outstanding."

E. M. Stiger of the U.S. Forest Service said repeated trips over the 30-mile canyon showed no signs of critically injured persons along the Big Thompson River.

The emphasis today for the first time was on recovering the dead.

Grand Jury Indicts 5 On Charges

A special federal grand jury in Paducah Monday afternoon returned indictments against five men in connection with the allegedly illegal purchase of a road-sign company and the subsequent sale of the road signs to the government.

C. Fred Partin, assistant U. S. attorney, said those charged with attempting to defraud the federal government were:

William H. Rayburn, 39, of Paducah, a former official of the state Bureau of Highways, and Henton Farley, 67, Marion Neal Tolbert, 55, Jerry Bennett, 55, and William S. Roberts, 31, all of Benton.

According to the indictment, a Benton company that made signs was informed by a highway department official that its signs were non-conforming. Others, who allegedly had inside information, purchased the company and sold the supposedly nonconforming signs to the state.

Partin said the indictment charges that the company was purchased for $5,000 and the signs sold for more than $112,000, three-fourths of which was provided by the federal government and one-fourth by the state.

Partin declined to comment on whether the special grand jury had completed its deliberations.

The five are scheduled to appear in Federal District Court in Paducah on August 12.

Fiscal Court

To Meet Friday

The regular meeting of the Calloway County Fiscal Court has been changed due to a conflict in scheduling, according to the office of Calloway Judge Robert O. Miller.

The meeting will be held Friday, August 6, at nine a. m. in the Judge's office, according to an announcement made today.

Scholarship Awarded To William L. Boston

William L. (Bill) Boston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fil R. Boston of Murray, received a scholarship of $600 at the Kentucky Youth Seminar Awards Banquet held Friday at the Executive Inn, Louisville.

Boston was one of sixteen Kentucky high school students who received a total of $4500 in college scholarships for their achievements in studying the American Private Enterprise System.

The awards were presented the college scholarships based on their combined scores at the June 21-23 Kentucky Youth Seminar and the National Agri-Business Examination taken on July 29 at the 48th annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation at Blacksburg, Va.

At the banquet Boston gave the invocation and Kenneth Ewing of Campbellsville presided as chairman of the statewide program sponsored jointly by the University of Kentucky and the Kentucky Cooperative Council. John Everage of Federal Intermediate Credit Bank was the speaker.

Mack Bushart of Benton, winner of $100 scholarship, was also chosen by the Youth Scholars group as the one among them who had done the most to help the group to accomplish its learning objectives and was the recipient of the $500 Leadership Award given by the Whirlpool Corp.

Approximately 1500 Kentucky high school juniors assisted by more than 900 local business leaders participated in the 41 local programs conducted in Kentucky this past year. Local Extension agents for Youth may be contacted for program information.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 4, 1976

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Curb an inclination to act or make decisions too quickly. In holding discussions, don't try to force issues or you could overshoot a safe mark.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21)

Great activity indicated in your area — which should prove highly stimulating. Especially favored: creative interests, community projects, travel plans.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)

Personal relationships should be highly congenial now. In fact, some of your brighter and more amusing companions could give you some stimulating ideas.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)

Place your confidence in hard facts rather than "feelings" and, in discussions with others, don't be overly imaginative. You could read too much in their words.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)

Though many means for advancement exist, you COULD throw a wrench into the machinery if your attitudes are suspicious, your approaches tactless. Beware!

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Planetary restrictions lift now so you will find achievement considerably easier. Not only should routine matters go well, but you may even have an opportunity to cash in on an avocational skill.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Introduce a new note — perhaps a new approach — to give more spark to day's doings. Output will substantially improve.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)

Go after the big gains but do not expect to have things your way all along the line. Be prepared for some opposition and you can meet it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A tabulation of "musts" may uncover a weak program — one that should be pepped up to show your abilities to better advantage.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Not much planetary help here. How the day turns out will be largely up to yourself. Use your wits to project the effective.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Look well into proposed suggestions or you may find yourself involved where you least desire it. Some definite "no" answers will be required.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Avoid tendencies toward restlessness and unreason. Note warning signals. Many errors and misguided moves can thus be averted.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely self-reliant and determined individual; gifted with many talents and the perseverance required to attain the loftiest of goals. You have a magnetic personality and this, coupled with a talent for entertaining, makes you a "natural" for the stage. You could also excel as an orator, lecturer, salesman or writer. Your intellect is in the superior class; thus, with astuteness and application, you could make an eminent name for yourself in the fields of science or the law. Your energy and enthusiasm are boundless but, here, you must be careful not to overtax yourself. Curb tendencies toward overaggressiveness, too. Birthdate of: Harry Lauder, Scot. actor.

Dr. Whittaker Speaks Murray NARFE Meet

The Murray Chapter of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees met Friday, July 23, at 9:30 a.m. in the Executive Room of the Woodmen of the World building.

Dr. Bill Whittaker, guest speaker, was introduced by Eugene Tarry. Dr. Whittaker gave an interesting talk on "Human Endeavors and Attitudes" stressing the fact that members, as retired citizens, could continue to be useful by getting involved in local projects wherever they could be useful.

Max Hurt read a letter written to the Congressman concerning legislation that is of vital interest to civil service retirees. All members present signed the letter and it was mailed to Cong. Hubbard.

The Executive Committee will meet Tuesday, August 17, at 9:30 a.m. at the Triangle Inn. The next business meeting will be Friday, August 27, at 9:30 a.m. at the WOW Hall.

Present at the July 23rd meeting were C. O. Bonduant, president, Van Valentine, secretary, Robert H. Douglas, L. E. McSwain, Curtis R. Palmer, O. C. McLemore, Eugene Tarry, Kenneth A. Grogan, S. Keith Morris, L. C. Hendon, Max B. Hurt, Mac T. Tarry, Lee W. Fox, Norman Klapp, Barletta Wrather, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Brown, Eugene Tarry, Max Hurt, and Dr. Whittaker.

Freezer failure

One of the most aggravating annoyances to the homemaker is the failure of her freezer. What should she do?

Open the freezer compartment only when absolutely necessary and then only for minimum times. A nearly full freezer has a self regulating effect and may hold satisfactory temperatures for as much as two days. The time will be less for a partially filled freezer. Supplemental refrigeration may be provided by dry ice. A "rule of thumb" is 25 pounds of dry ice for every 10 cubic feet of food. That should provide satisfactory temperatures from two to four days. If there is evidence of a wide electrical power failure, check with your utility company to determine anticipated time of power outage.

Don't forget the garnish

A simple garnish is often the perfect finishing touch for a meat platter or individual servings of meat, advises the National Live Stock and Meat Board. When the garnish is added primarily for color, consider parsley, watercress, celery tops, green pepper rings or cherry tomatoes. Or for a more substantial garnish, choose pear or peach halves, pineapple slices or crabapples, heated and spiced if desired. Accompanying dishes such as broiled tomato halves, browned potatoes, stuffed onions or small whole carrots can double as garnishes when arranged on the platter with meat.

Bill Boston Attends Education Institute

Bill Boston, Murray attended the National Institute on Cooperative Education at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University (VPI & SU), Blacksburg, Va., from July 25-29, 1976.

About 850 young people gathered at this national meeting of agricultural, educational, and agricultural cooperative leaders. Sponsored by the American Institute of Cooperation, (AIC), the national educational organization for farmer cooperatives headquartered in Washington, D. C., the University, and Virginia cooperatives, this meeting draws about 2,500 youth, young farmer couples, and adults.

The young people, called Youth Scholars, had a number of special sessions of their own and also attended the general sessions where speakers' topics support the 1976 theme, "Cooperatives — Committed to America's Future."

Most of these Youth Scholars had won competitions — speaking or essay contests, special quizzes, or exhibited special leadership qualities that have made them eligible to attend this meeting.

Boston was among the top 15 students at the Kentucky Youth Seminar at the University of Kentucky, June 21-23, sponsored by the Kentucky Council of Cooperatives. The Council gave the 15 expenses-paid trips to the NICE.

Boston is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fil R. Boston of North 7th St., Murray.

Moody And Bowerman Wedding Is Saturday

Plans for the wedding of Miss Susan Moody, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Moody, and Ricky Bowerman, son of Mrs. Katherine Bowerman and the late C. T. Bowerman have been completed.

The ceremony will take place on Saturday, August 7, at 2:30 p. m. in the sanctuary of the First United Methodist Church, Murray. Dr. James Fisher will perform the double ring ceremony. He will be assisted by Brother James Hale.

Miss Moody has chosen Mrs. Leonard Clark, sister of the groom-elect, as her matron of honor. Her other attendants will be Mrs. Joe Dalton and Mrs. David Hill.

Mr. Bowerman has chosen Richard Elam as his best man. The groomsmen will be Steve Moody, brother of the bride-elect, and Kerry Bowerman, brother of the groom-elect.

Serving as ushers will be Terry Barnett, Glen Culp, and Tony Wilson.

A program of nuptial music will be presented by Mrs. Larrie Clark, organist, and Mrs. Bobby Henry, soloist.

The guest register will be kept by Miss Sandra Moody, sister of the bride-elect, and Miss Ginger Bowerman, sister of the groom-elect.

Only out-of-town invitations will be sent. All friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend both the wedding and the reception, which will follow the ceremony in the church social hall.

Don't Just Visit, Take Elderly Out

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column about visiting the elderly in nursing homes prompts my first "Dear Abby" letter.

I agree, it's a great service to visit an elderly friend or relative in a nursing home, but consider this: Instead of going there to sit with him while you both look at the same four walls he looks at day in and day out, why not give him a change of scenery?

Take him for a little drive and stop for a bite to eat. Or take him window shopping. Or treat him to a home-cooked meal with the family. Just being away from the institution will relieve his boredom and lift his spirits.

If he isn't able to walk, be aware that they now make lightweight wheelchairs that can be easily folded and tucked into the trunk of the car.

Abby, this is a plea to your readers who visit someone in a nursing home: Please turn those routine duty visits into special events by treating the patient to an occasional outing. It will do wonders for him. And for you, too. I know. I've been a volunteer in such a home for over 10 years.

BESS

DEAR BESS: What a pity you'll never know how much happiness your suggestion will bring to countless residents of nursing homes throughout the nation. Bless you for writing.

DEAR ABBY: I am so glad I can write to you with this problem because it has bothered me for years and I can't go to anyone else with it.

You see, my parents were never married, which makes me illegitimate, right? I'm not exactly proud of it, but I don't let it bother me too much because there is nothing I can do about it.

I married a very nice man and we have two lovely children. I want so much for them to be legitimate, but if I'm not, then THEY can't be either, and that is my problem.

What must I do to make my children legitimate? Thank you.

MEMPHIS MOM

DEAR MOM: You did it. You married their father. All children born to a married couple are legitimate, regardless of the legitimacy (or illegitimacy) of their parents.

DEAR ABBY: I am planning my wedding. I want my bridesmaids to wear southern belle-type dresses and enter carrying parasols instead of flowers.

I want them to walk down the aisle with their parasols open, until they reach the front of the church. Then they would turn to face the congregation and close their parasols, keeping them closed for the duration of the service.

My fiancé and his mother say this would look stupid. What do you and your readers think?

BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: I think it might look as though you were trying to create a Broadway musical production effect. And for those who are superstitious, it's bad luck to open an umbrella indoors.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24¢) envelope.

Parks & Mayer Family Reunion Held Here At The Ellis Center

The Parks and Mayer Family Reunion was held Sunday, July 18, at the Community Center on Ellis Drive.

Mrs. Lillie Parks Jones was the oldest and honored guest. All of her five children were present and all but one grandchild and four great grandchildren. Also present were two stepsons, Dewey and Preston Jones.

A bountiful meal was served and old acquaintances and friendships renewed.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Parks, Murray Route Four, Mr. and Mrs. Swann Parks, Memphis, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. Steve Great grandchildren present were Mr. and Mrs. Randy Shelton, Kim, Jay, and Amy Like, Jeff and Mitzi Shelton, Stacey Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Edwards, David, Wayne, and Kelli Cathey, Bryan and Dyna Shearer. The great great grandchild present was Tabitha Shelton.

Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Shelton, E. Lansing, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Farless, Mr. and Mrs. Paul McGee, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Like, Charles Vogelsang, and Guy Richards.

Mrs. Theron Riley Is Honored By Class; NEEDLINE Discussed

Mrs. Theron Riley, teacher of the Phebian Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church, was honored with a surprise birthday party by the class on Tuesday, July 20, in the ladies parlor of the main church building.

Each class member present presented the teacher with a small gift of appreciation for her faithfulness as teacher of the class.

A special discussion on the work and progress of NEEDLINE was led by the director, Mrs. Joe Pat Ward. This special service organization is funded by donations from interested clubs, organizations, churches, and individuals. The work of the organization is confidential and persons with any special needs may call 753-6333 and be assured that it will be kept confidential, Mrs. Ward said.

Refreshments of birthday cake and Cokes were served by Group Three, Evelyn

Mr. & Mrs. Keller Honored On Saturday

The silver anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Don Keller, College Farm Road, was celebrated at a surprise family reunion in Louisville Saturday, July 31.

Gathering for the reunion, a surprise to the honorees, and the dinner party at the Executive Inn's Empire Room were their daughter, Donna, and son, Thomas, of Murray; son, David, of Owing Mills, Md., and son and daughter-in-law, Michael and Debbie, of Louisville.

Mrs. Keller's mother, Mrs. Irene Oliver, and sister, Ruth Ann Enloe, attended from St. Louis. Mr. Keller's parents, Mr. and Mrs.

Harry Keller, and sister, June Keller, arrived from Miami, Fla. Another guest was Amy Brooks, a senior at Murray State University.

Silver napkins rings engraved with the wedding date, Aug. 5, 1951, were presented by their children.

New! Economy Quarts from Pepsi-Cola.

Now in 6-packs of money-back bottles.

The Pepsi-Cola quart is a real quart. 32 refreshing ounces. Some soft-drink companies sell their product in bottles that look like quarts. But they're really only 26- or 28-ounce bottles. The bottles in Pepsi-Cola's new Economy Quart six-pack are real quarts... 32 refreshing ounces. So look carefully before you buy. And when they're empty, bring 'em back for a refund the easy way... in the handy carton you took them home in.

DRUG TOLERANCE WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

The word tolerance when applied to drugs is not particularly a good thing. For, it can mean that over a period of time our body has become adjusted to a medicine and the drug will no longer achieve the desired effect it once did.

This tolerance effect can apply to many types of common use drug products—laxatives, cough preparations, skin treatment creams and ointments. With prescription medicines the tolerance effect can be even more serious. We will always caution you when such a possibility exists.

Cutting The Red Tape

We've talked about this before — and undoubtedly there will be many more occasions on which the subject will return to these pages.

The subject: regulatory agencies.

These agencies were originally designed to help the consumers, and of course some of them do.

But the regulatory agencies are in that vague area of government called bureaucracy.

And bureaucracies always grow like anything. With growth comes make-work. Regulatory agencies can always issue new regulations and new interpretations of old regulations.

Instead of relying on established guidelines, the agencies spell out every imaginable regulation that anyone ever heard of — and some beyond that.

The result: even the small businessman spends a minimum of three days a month just on government paperwork.

And who pays for this? The consumer, who the plan was designed to help.

The Democrats have said they will streamline the bureaucracy. The GOP will promise the same.

And these promises are not new. The same promise has been made by at least three previous administrations.

Everyone is against red tape. It's time for the leaders of both parties to turn their attention to this matter — and act!

Both Sides Of The Future Of The Dollar

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — There are few tests that more precisely establish your frame of reference as being either optimistic or pessimistic than your approach to the economic future, especially if your own dollar is involved.

This instantly omits your broker, insurance agent and the like, you will note, because they make their money in the present, not the future. That's your dough they're talking about when they make their pitch.

Brokers do not wait for your stock to rise before taking their commission; no, the bill comes within the week. The insurance man takes most of his within the first year; after he's through your cash value begins to build.

When the money is yours the choice about the future is more difficult. Mountains of alleged documentation support either point of view. Stand on either pile and you can see only dimly into the future; and the choice is yours.

In stocks, for example, the price-earnings ratio of the shares listed in the Dow Jones industrial average was 12 at the beginning of this week. Late in 1974 it was around 8. In the mid-1960s it registered around 18.

The present reading therefore is about midway between the highs and the lows of the past decade or so, suggesting that the mass of investors really hasn't made up its mind. Someday, prices will move off midpoint. Which way?

You are an optimist if you believe the recent stability in farm prices will mean smaller rises in retail food prices. In the month ended July 15, the Agriculture Department said, farmers received no increase in prices.

By contrast, you are a pessimist if you believed that the recovery of foreign economies will result in such increased demand for basic commodities, including food, that inflation will rage again.

You were a pessimist if, a year or more ago, you bet the automotive industry was headed for bad times because, it was said, "people just can't afford the high purchase and operating prices of the new cars."

You demonstrated optimism as did Thomas Murphy, General Motors chairman, if you predicted a tremendous surge of interest in the industry, which is now documented by some of the best sales and profit figures in years.

The battle of the pros and cons, pluses and minuses, assets and liabilities is waged every day by millions of ordinary souls and by those also who claim to be authorities. But "information" is of limited help, because the mass of it that suggests optimism is matched by the mountain that casts a gray shadow.

But hope we will. There are many thousands of young Americans who hope that American technology will overcome the incessant rise in housing prices and produce for them an affordable home.

And if you search, you might even find a man or woman so optimistic, if that is the proper word, as to believe that real estate taxes are coming down next year.

WHY VETO OF PUBLIC WORKS EMPLOYMENT ACT

To the Senate of the United States: (Excerpts from the President's message)

"I am returning without my approval S. 3201, the Public Works Employment Act of 1976.

"This bill would require $3.95 billion in Federal spending above and beyond what is necessary. It sends a clear signal to the American people that four months before a national election, the Congress is enacting empty promises and giveaway programs. I will not take the country down that path. Time and time again, we have found where it leads; to larger deficits, higher taxes, higher inflation and ultimately higher unemployment."

"S. 3201 would authorize almost $4 billion in additional Federal spending—$2 billion for public works, $1.25 billion for countercyclical aid to state and local governments and $700 million for EPA waste water treatment grants.

"Beyond the intolerable addition to the budget, S. 3201 has several serious deficiencies. First, relatively few new jobs would be created."

"Second, S. 3201 would create few new jobs in the immediate future. With peak impact on jobs in the late 1977 or early 1978, this legislation would add further stimulus to the economy at precisely the wrong time; when the economy is already far into recovery."

"Third, the cost of producing jobs under this bill would be intolerably high, probably in excess of $25,000 per job."

"My proposed economic policies are expected to produce lasting, productive jobs, not temporary jobs paid for by the American taxpayers."

Garrott's Galley Headed for Year in Europe, She's Worried about Shoes

By M. C. Garrott

Sarah Sams' great adventure starts Thursday.

That morning she will go to Nashville and board a plane for the first leg of a 16-hour flight to Lausanne, Switzerland. There she will study for a year on a Rotary Foundation scholarship, which she won last spring.

Scheduled to arrive in Geneva, Switzerland, at 8:50 a.m. Friday (1:50 a.m. Murray time), Sarah, the 21-year-old daughter of Bill and Margaret Sams, 1702 Plainview, will study at the Conservatoire de Musique at Lausanne. This is some 50 miles around Lake Geneva from where she'll land.

Although she knew almost a year ago that she had won the scholarship, it hasn't been easy getting ready for such a long stay overseas and going through the rigors of leaving. Sarah has had some anxious moments.

First, she was scheduled to leave July 7. Because of delays in the mail and her long-distance communicating with Rotary International headquarters in Evanston, Ill., and the Lausanne school, she is just now getting away.

Then came her travel arrangements, which she has made herself. Rotary pays all her travel expenses as well as her tuition, fees and housing costs at the school, but it was up to her to work out the details of getting over there and back.

When she leaves Thursday, she won't have a specific place to stay when she reaches Lausanne. She's not worried. "I'll get in there early and will find something before the day is out," she said with a laugh.

If you hear it's inexpensive to travel, apparently whomever told you wasn't referring to Switzerland, according to Sarah's travel agency. They could arrange hotel accommodations for her, she was told, but the cost would be about $75 per day. "They did say they might find something as low as $35 a day, but the accommodations wouldn't be too desirable," she said. "I wonder what they meant."

Having seen the piles of stuff my wife and daughter take with them for just a weekend trip, I couldn't help but wonder what a young lady like Sarah would take in the way of clothing for a year's stay in Europe.

"That's been another problem," she laughed. "I'm only allowed 44 pounds of luggage on my airline ticket, but I'm going to afford the luxury of being a little over that."

"I'm taking mostly fall and winter clothes, because I believe the Swiss weather is much like that of Minnesota. I've been following their temperatures in the Courier-Journal for about a year now. I've practiced packing the bags over and over to see what and how much I could get into them. It's my shoes that have me worried. As soon as I have an address over there, I guess dad will have to send most of them to me."

At Lausanne, Sarah will be studying in five areas of music: Form and analysis, conducting, composition, music history and her specialty, the flute. She only needs 12 hours of credit in order to graduate from Murray State. She'll earn six at Lausanne, the other six she'll pick up through correspondence courses from Murray State while she is in Switzerland. She'll get her degree in music education "with a lot of extras" in August of '77 after she gets home.

They speak three languages, basically, in Switzerland: French, German and Italian. Although she speaks French well, having studied it for three years at Murray High and for two semesters at Murray State, Sarah will start six weeks of language school soon after she arrives. Her classes will start in mid-September. After that a tutor will work with her well into the school year.

Although given the opportunity when she won the scholarship to list five choices of schools in the world where she would like to study, Sarah is headed for one she didn't list.

"I had listed two in France, two in Austria and one in England," she said. "I didn't know about any music schools in Switzerland. If I had, I would have listed one there, because from all I've heard about it, it's a beautiful country. I'm real excited about studying there, and looking forward to learning to ski."

Christmas alone in a foreign land can be a lonesome time, but Sarah's careful planning also has provided for that. A cousin and his family live in Frankfurt, Germany, some four or five hours from Lausanne. She'll spend the holidays with them.

She also intends to visit periodically with her family here in Murray by way of ham radio. A next-door neighbor, Bruce Horning, will be handling the hookup from this end. Knowing Sarah, she'll soon have an operator lined up on the other end.

Incidentally, Sarah is the second Foundation Scholar the local Rotarians have sponsored in the last six years. They also sponsored a 1977-78 winner, Steve Smith of Benton, who will be studying in France.

Let's Stay Well

Managing Leg Cramps

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Lower limb cramps, much more common in the legs than in the thighs, are found especially among older persons.

Impairment of circulation to the muscles often causes pain. They undergo spasmodic contractions during exercise, leading to severe, disabling cramping known as intermittent claudication.

If the pain is due to inadequate blood supply resulting in muscular cramping (vascular intermittent claudication), certain characteristics are usually present, such as the following:

— Cramping is predictable and appears in the calf or thigh after the person walks a certain distance (e.g., 100 to 300 feet) at approximately a fixed rate.

— Relief of the cramping is also predictable after standing at rest for a certain time.

— Cramping is reproduced in a similar manner by walking a fixed distance and is relieved again by rest.

If such testing proves positive by reproducing cramping, the arteries supplying the pain area are usually closed or partially occluded. Pulse in the feet and behind the ankles may be weak or absent. The lower portion of the limb may be cool and pale from inadequate blood supply.

Special X-rays (arteriograms) will visualize the degree and location of arterial impairment. They are helpful to the surgeon in planning surgical correction by grafting a vein or other material to bypass the narrowed area and restore adequate blood supply.

It is essential that other diseased conditions be ruled out. Pain arising in the joints, especially in the feet, may cause the patient to complain of leg "cramps" on exercise.

Victims of neurological disease (for example, in some diabetics and in cases of earlier herpes zoster or shingles which have passed from the acute to the chronic phase) may have similar symptoms and have to be differentiated from those symptoms caused by arterial disease. These other conditions usually fail to show the predictable reproduction of the cramping on exercise characteristic of vascular intermittent claudication.

Vascular surgery in properly selected cases may avoid amputation of parts of lower limbs and restore them to comfortable function. Medicines may be helpful.

Fourth, you may want to determine the existence and extent of insurance coverage held by the shop where you have your clothes laundered or drycleaned. It is always wise to know where you stand before you have a problem, and it is reasonable to expect, when you entrust your clothes to a businessperson for handling and cleaning, that there should be some sort of insurance coverage to protect you.

If a mistake is made by the cleaning business, the customer will usually receive a refund or replacement for the lost or damaged clothing. That is our experience with this part of the service industry. You must remember, however, that the laundry or cleaning business is not always the cause of the problem. It may result from customer forgetfulness or insistence on improper cleaning techniques and for these the consumer must bear responsibility. It may also be due to improper care labeling or manufacturing short-cuts about which neither the consumer, the retailer, nor the cleaning businessperson have any knowledge. In such case, it may be in order for the manufacturer or the clothing outlet to assume responsibility for the problems you encounter.

If you have a consumer complaint, write to the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. The office has found that it can most effectively deal with written complaints and encourages you to write when you have a complaint. # Program For Emergency Financial Assistance Now Being Considered

By BILL BERGSTROM
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—A task force has begun a series of meetings to consider a program through which the state could help people with temporary financial emergencies such as delay in replacement of a stolen paycheck or in arrival of Social Security benefits they've applied for.

The Kentucky Task Force on Short Term Emergency Assistance was established by the 1976 General Assembly to find out whether "Kentucky needs an emergency assistance program and, if so, how much it would cost and how it should operate."

State Rep. Jerry Kleier, D-Louisville, chairman of the task force, said Wednesday at the first meeting that he believed most of the members were convinced of the need for a program to help people who need temporary financial help and can't get it through other government programs.

These could include people who have lost their jobs and are not covered by unemployment insurance or have exhausted their unemployment benefits, people who are temporarily disabled, and people who have qualified for some form of assistance but are not yet receiving it.

"There are lots of people who have a bill for $25—maybe they need their gas bill paid—and with all the programs we have, they can't get any help," Kleier said.

"People, as long as they have plenty of money and are working every day, don't see the need for this," he said. "Our problem is to get it across to people that this is you—next week when you break your back and your money's cut off, or when your company lays you off."

Bills to establish state emergency assistance programs have failed in the 1972 and 1974 General Assemblies. The 1976 legislature also turned down such a measure, sponsored by Kleier, passing the resolution establishing the task force instead.

Some Kentucky counties already have emergency assistance programs. A random Legislative Research Commission sampling of 20 counties in 1973 indicated that seven had such programs and 13 didn't.

Jefferson County, which has by far the largest program, spent $786,849.69 during the 1972-73 fiscal year to aid a total of 29,435 persons, the LRC study indicated.

Drusilla Mason, Jefferson County's emergency assistance and social services administrator and a member of the task force, said a frequent reason people need emergency assistance is illness.

Much of the money goes for rent, food or food stamps.

She said many applicants receive benefits under other state or federal assistance programs, "but something happens to the money, for instance it gets stolen."

"It takes two weeks to stop the check and get a new one, and during that time we help them with food and other needs," she said.

Jean Blankenship, administrator of Calloway County's emergency aid program, said that when it comes to reasons people need assistance, "you name it and we've had it."

"I'll pay a light bill for somebody who's just all of a sudden been laid off. I've done everything from buying dentures to eyeglasses... These are small needs, but they can be insurmountable ones," she said. "We tell them that it's probably a one-shot deal, we're just helping them over this one crisis."

She recommended that the state give grants to counties to operate their own programs rather than setting up a program administered centrally by a state agency.

"We would rather see a grant come through a county judge who would find somebody who's close to the people and will solve these problems," she said.

Mrs. Blankenship attended the meeting as a representative of task force member Robert O. Miller, Calloway County judge and president of the Kentucky County Judges Association.

In the bill rejected by the 1976 General Assembly, the short term emergency assistance program would have been administered by the state Department for Human Resources.

A cost estimate filed with that bill projected the cost of the program at about $5 million a year.

Whether the task force will recommend a program administered by counties or by the state is one of the things it will have to study.

The group's next steps include gathering information from fiscal courts and charitable organizations on how many Kentucky counties already have emergency assistance programs and how many people need such assistance, studying how much a program would cost and finding ways to pay for it.

Kleier said the task force would consult the Red Cross, the Salvation Army, community action agencies, Area Development Districts and county judges to get that information.

He said the group also would obtain a list of the 40 other states that have emergency assistance programs and check with them to find out how their programs operate and what the costs are.

Other members of the task force are David Graves, representing the Louisville Area Coalition on Human Needs and Budget Priorities; Jesse Amburgey of Frankfort, executive secretary of the Kentucky Association of Community Action Agencies; Mrs. Todd Graddy, social services director for the Salvation Army in Lexington; Marion Sprague of Lexington, representing the Kentucky League of Women Voters; Montgomery County Judge Harry Hoffman; Sue Cassidy of Covington, representing the National Association of Social Workers, and state Sen. Clyde Middleton, R-Covington.

The task force will meet again Sept. 22.

Getting Started In The Morning Getting Expensive

By TERRY KIRKPATRICK
AP Business Writer

Getting started in the morning is getting more expensive these days, if coffee is involved. But some just can't do without.

"There is no point when I would stop buying it," Carmen Elera said as she checked prices in the coffee section of a San Francisco supermarket. "I have to have my coffee in the morning."

"I have no choice," echoed Mary Pejiri in Chicago. "My husband is a big coffee drinker and has to have it regardless of the cost. If we have to cut down somewhere, it won't be coffee."

Shoppers have watched coffee prices rise 50 cents a pound or more in the past year, mostly because of a frost that struck the Brazilian coffee crop last July, the war in Angola and this year's earthquake in Guatemala.

But coffee drinkers are apparently buying just as much as ever, although they are shaving pennies where they can. Others are clipping discount coupons, using instant coffee to avoid brewing a full pot, cutting down to one cup a day, or switching to tea.

The price increases passed on to consumers over the past year have totaled about 40 percent, but we are still moving our best sellers or medium-priced brands," said Fred Breaux, a New Orleans grocer.

Safeway Stores, which operates 2,451 outlets in 28 states, says it hasn't noticed any changes in coffee buying patterns. And General Foods Corp., the country's largest coffee producer, says sales have held up despite the price increases, probably because some buyers are stockpiling.

"There has been absolutely no decline in coffee consumption in restaurants and very little at the retail level," said Edward Jones, who has studied the coffee situation for the Mitchell Hutchins Inc. brokerage firm in New York.

He predicts a "modest drop-off" in sales in the near future if high prices persist, but he won't estimate the size of the drop. "We're in uncharted seas," he said. "There's never been a coffee price increase approaching this magnitude."

Garth Thorburn of the U.S. Agriculture Department expects a "5 to 10 per cent reduction in consumption if prices continue this high. But it hasn't happened yet."

Back in 1953 a similar frost in Brazil forced a near doubling of green coffee bean prices at one point, and coffee consumption in the United States fell slightly in 1954. It picked up again the next year.

The current trouble started on July 17 last year, when frost caused by an Antarctic cold wave settled over the delicate coffee trees in Brazil, the world's largest supplier of coffee. Nearly two-thirds of the crop, which was to be harvested this spring, was destroyed.

Brazil was selling green coffee beans for 68 cents a pound then. They're up to $1.53 a pound now. In the United States, the nationwide average retail price for a pound of ground coffee was $1.27. It was up to $1.70 by May of this year, while the average price of six ounces of instant coffee jumped in that period from $1.55 to $1.94.

From this point on what do you know about building a building?

You've got your lot, now what? Well, there are clearances, permits, rights-of-way, planning, budgeting, designing, contracting, clearing, excavating, constructing, roofing, finishing, interior finishing, grounds work, landscaping, etc., etc. You can learn about all these things yourself. Or you can get in touch with us. We take care of every detail—from the first steps to the last. As much as you want us to handle, we'll handle. So give us a call when you're ready to build. # State Pay Show Bias Against Women

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—

Women state employees earned an average of $1,459 less than their male counterparts in 1974 although the salary gap is closing, the Kentucky Commission on Human Rights reported today.

An average annual wage of $8,550 for men workers was reported compared with $7,092 for women as of the end of 1974.

Both salary categories increased since the previous study in 1972 when the male average was $8,224 and for women $5,856.

In a 23-page survey, "Status of Women in Kentucky State Agencies," the commission noted two other signs of progress for women:

It said a record high of 40.4 per cent of state jobs were held by them in 1974.

It said 38.8 per cent of women held supervisory posts compared with only 28.2 per cent two years earlier.

But the report said most women state employees remain clustered at the lower end of the pay scale and are mainly in the traditionally female fields such as clerical, health and social services. Copies of the report were sent to all agency heads.

In addition a letter urged them to "significantly increase the number and jobs status of female employees through affirmative action efforts."

In terms of salary the commission said Black women were the most "disadvantaged" group employed by the Commonwealth.

The average annual pay for a black woman was $6,108 or $227 less than the average for all blacks, $1,950 less than the white average and $1,068 under the average for white women.

The study said women held 13,032 jobs in 1974 or about 40 per cent of the 32,231 fulltime jobs available, but that less than 36 per cent of the total state payroll went to women.

The commission study contended the departments of transportation, corrections and finance and the state police had the worst record for over-all female employment.

It said women accounted for only 11.9 per cent of the work force in transportation, 16 per cent in state police, 22.8 per cent in corrections and 34.4 per cent in finance.

The vast Human Resources Department, with 69.1 per cent women, was found to have the best record in 1974 among large agencies.

Twins Continue With Pleasant Hex Of A's

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

The Oakland A's are in something of an unaccustomed position, sitting in third place and looking up at the American League's West Division leaders. They are even more unaccustomed to looking up at the Minnesota Twins, who aren't all that accustomed to being in second place, themselves.

The Twins hadn't won seven games in a row since 1970 — now they've won eight in a row and 13 of 15, including the last five against the A's. You remember the A's, the team that won three straight World Series until their string was broken by Boston last season.

This year, some harsh facts are beginning to present themselves to Oakland Manager Chuck Tanner.

"We just have to play better" he said Monday night after the upstart Twins got a seven-hit shutout from Steve Luebber for a 5-0 triumph. "We have to play about .675 baseball now and we can't afford to lose to Kansas City. Before this series, we could do things for ourselves. But now the other clubs have to beat them, too."

And suddenly, the Twins are one of those other clubs to beat. There's a three-game series starting in Kansas City tonight, and it's a good bet that the A's will be playing the scoreboard game while the top two teams in the AL West start carving out a pennant race.

In the other AL games Monday night, New York edged Detroit 1-0, Milwaukee topped Baltimore 7-1, and Boston trimmed Cleveland 3-1.

"You just keep going out there and busting your butt and hope things change," observed Joe Rudi. "I keep looking people in the eye and do the best I can and hope that's good enough."

It wasn't good enough against Luebber, who picked up his first major league shutout and complete game with the performance. He struggled through it, to be sure — walking six and suffering a nervous moment in the sixth when the first two batters cracked singles.

The game Luebber pitched may be forgotten when World Series times come along, or it may be remembered for that very reason. It will be remembered, regardless, by Luebber, who went on to strike out the next two batters and induce Don Baylor to fly out.

Yankees 1, Tigers 0

Doyle Alexander, who has flirted with a no-hitter just about every time he's pitched for the Yankees, hurled a two-hitter to beat the Tigers. It was the fourth time since his acquisition from Baltimore six weeks ago that Alexander has entered the later stages of a game without permitting a hit.

The New York run scored in the third on Mickey Rivers' infield hit.

Red Sox 3, Indians 1

Carl Yastrzemski drove in a pair of runs and Rick Wise pitched a five-hitter to pick up his second victory over the Indians in five days and his eighth complete game of the season.

Brewers 7, Orioles 1

Von Joshua capped a two-run sixth inning with an RBI single, then highlighted a four-run seventh with another run-producing hit as Milwaukee cruised past Baltimore on an eight-hitter by Jim Colborn.

The triumph was the fifth in a row by the Brewers over the Orioles.

Chiefs Win Over Oilers In Overtime Contest

By DOUG TUCKER
AP Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Paul Wiggin had to do a quick rewrite of his dressing room oratory.

"I was trying to decide in the middle of the fourth quarter what my speech was going to be," he smiled amid the excitement of the Kansas City Chiefs' locker room Monday night.

"I was going to say we were a young team, but played a lot of people ... but it's a strange game."

It was indeed. Wiggin's Chiefs, outplayed most of the evening by the Houston Oilers, sent their National Football League exhibition game into overtime with 92 seconds remaining in regulation and finally won 9-3 when Emmitt Thomas grabbed a blocked field goal attempt and dashed 68 yards to victory.

The Oilers, who had two touchdown passes nullified by penalties, mounted a 3-0 advantage on Skip Butler's 31-yard-second quarter field goal and nursed it until Jan

Michael Spinks Back Home To Study Future

By PAUL LeBAR
AP Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Twenty-year-old Michael Spinks, one-half of the world's first Olympic gold medal brother duo in boxing, has arrived home to mull over his future, possibly as a pro.

But the man who has exerted a major influence in shaping his destiny said Monday he's advised Michael to take his time before making a decision.

"When he came off the plane he was talking. He told me, 'What I want to do is go back to school,'" said John Holaus, president of the Ozark Amateur Athletic Union.

"All I hope is that life can be made a little easier for him and his family," Holaus said. "It (professionalism) is one step out of the ghetto. Maybe God is in his destiny, but the almighty dollar means a lot too."

A smiling Spinks, wearing a sombrero given to him by his hometown coach, Ken Loepr, arrived at Lambert Airport with his mother, Kay, at his side.

"Mostly what I feel is gratefulness," he told a small but boisterous crowd. "Right now, though, what I need is sleep. I slept some Saturday night after the fight, but since the closing ceremony I haven't been able to sleep at all."

The rise of Michael to boxing's amateur pinnacle at Montreal came swiftly after he and his brother, Olympic lightweight champion Leon, fought in a Russian-United States meet here in January, 1975.

A high school dropout, Michael toured the Soviet Union last winter with an American team and gained valuable international experience.

On Monday, after being presented the key to the city, Michael retired to a quiet homecoming and awaited the expected arrival of Leon, 23, from Camp Lejeune, N.C., where he had returned to duty as a Marine corporal.

A noon civic ceremony is planned in the brothers' honor on Wednesday and afterward the St. Louis Amateur Boxing Association plans a celebration of its own.

"Michael really hasn't settled down from the whirlwind he's in," Holaus remarked of a pro offer he said was presented in Montreal.

"They were supposed to have offered Leon $250,000, but Leon shrugged it off and said he's got things he has to do first. We told Michael to get a good lawyer. We've been involved in his life and wouldn't like to see him or Leon taken by an operator."

Russians Say Canada Brainwashed Defector

MONTREAL (AP) — The deputy chief of the Russian delegation to the Olympics has claimed that young diver Sergei Nemtsanov was brainwashed into defecting as part of an organized plot to encourage Soviet athletes to remain in Canada.

"It is our opinion that Nemtsanov has been psychologically brainwashed by highly trained specialists," Anatoly Kolesov charged during a 35-minute angry news conference Monday.

"We always knew Sergei as a lively, happy person. But yesterday when we met with him he was in a depressed state with a dazed stare and he kept repeating like a parrot, 'I chose freedom.'"

A Canadian immigration department official disagreed, saying Nemtsanov seemed to be in good spirits.

Kolesov claimed that when the 17-year-old Nemtsanov asked to speak alone to friend David Ambartsumyan, another member of the Soviet diving team, officials insisted that a translator be present.

For the only time during the news conference, Kolesov laughed. "No translator is needed between two Soviet athletes who are friends," he said.

He also said a Soviet request to have their team physician examine the diver was refused, and that letters from the diver's mother and grandmother were not delivered to him.

Nemtsanov and four Romanian athletes defected during the Olympics, causing a furor that prompted Kolesov to suggest a plot.

"An official band of terrorists are trying to persuade Soviet athletes to defect," he said, adding that Soviet athletes were receiving a great amount of anti-Soviet literature in which a Montreal telephone number is listed should anyone need aid in defecting.

A 21-year-old employee of the Olympic organizing committee was fired Saturday for setting up a defection service, Olympic officials said.

Canadian Immigration Minister Robert Andras has signed a visa permit enabling Nemtsanov to remain in Canada at least until Jan. 30, 1977, "to give Sergei time to collect himself and decide exactly how he will proceed."

Labor Peace Has Been Reached In Baseball

By TOM SEPPY
AP Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor peace has been reached in baseball.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association, told the Select House Committee on Professional Sports that the new four-year agreement with management has been ratified overwhelmingly by the union membership.

With 15 of the 24 clubs having cast their ballots by Monday, the vote was 352-18 in favor of the pact which, for the first time, recognizes freedom of movement for the players.

Under the terms of the agreement, the result of 13 months of negotiation, a player with six years' major league service can become a free agent by notifying his club in writing after the season.

A player with five years of major league service has the right to demand a trade at the end of a season, and he may list a maximum of six clubs to which he doesn't want to be traded. If he isn't traded by the following March 15, he becomes a free agent.

Other key terms include the right of an unsigned player to become a free agent at the end of this season and a signed player to become a free agent after playing out the renewal year in his current contract.

The tentative agreement was reached between representatives of management and the union during the All-Star break three weeks ago, subject to ratification by the 24 owners and the players. The owners ratified the pact two weeks ago.

Miller told the committee that despite baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's comments to the contrary,

"collective bargaining in baseball has been impeded because of its antitrust status."

Miller said the union had tried repeatedly for the past 10 years to make modest modifications in the reserve system through collective bargaining.

"Despite its limited goals, which never included complete abolition of the reserve system, the club owners' response invariably was to the effect that they liked it just the way it was and that they would not change one comma in any of the relevant provisions," he said. "There was never any deviation in the club owners' position that players could never, on their own initiative, become free agents."

Miller said an arbitrator's decision on pitcher Andy Messersmith turned things around.

"Then and only then were the owners first interested in modifying the reserve system. But now they wanted it modified in their favor. We could have, with great justification, taken the same attitude the owners had expressed for 10 years ... but we did not. We agreed to modifications to arrive at what we believe will be a fair and workable system."

Miller also said that the baseball players union, in another vote, ratified 424-3 a new pension plan which will increase benefits 30 per cent over last year.

Believe It Or Not, Cardinals Win

Padres' Sawyer Starts First Contest And Wins

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The first victory is always the toughest in the major leagues, but Rick Sawyer didn't wait long to get his. He did it in his first start.

The 28-year-old rookie realized a dream few attain by winning his first big league start — and doing it in style with a five-hit, 7-0 decision Monday night that helped the San Diego Padres sweep a doubleheader from the Atlanta Braves.

Before Monday night, Sawyer had only pitched a total of nine innings in the major leagues, all with the New York Yankees. Earlier this summer, he had all but given up expectations of having a big league career and was in fact considering early retirement from baseball.

But Sawyer moved from the Yankees' Syracuse farm team to the San Diego roster as the "player to be named later" in a trade with New York involving Gene Locklear.

Before Sawyer's splendid five-hitter, the Padres had beaten the Braves 7-3. In other National League action, the Chicago Cubs beat the Philadelphia Phillies 4-2; the Montreal Expos nipped the New York Mets 5-4; the St. Louis Cardinals stopped the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-0; the Cincinnati Reds defeated the San Francisco Giants 5-1 and the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Houston Astros 5-4 in 11 innings.

Pinch-hitter Merv Rettenmund broke a tie with a run-scoring single in a four-run ninth inning as San Diego won the first game. Reliever Butch Metzger benefited from the rally, recording his ninth victory without a loss.

Johnny Grubb belted two home runs and drove in four runs to ease Sawyer's victory in the nightcap.

Cubs 4, Phillies 2
Pete LaCock's two-run homer capped a three-run first inning and triggered Chicago past Philadelphia. The triumph was the fourth straight for the Cubs, matching their longest winning streak of the season, and ended a three-game

NEW YORK (AP) — Bruce Jenner and John Naber, gold medal winners at the Montreal Olympics, will join a long list of celebrities who will appear in the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial pro-circus tennis tournament at Forest Hills on Aug. 28.

Jenner won the decathlon and Naber won four gold medals and a silver in swimming.

Others scheduled to play in the 4-year-old tourney include Dave DeBusschere, commissioner of the American Basketball Association; fashion designer Oleg Cassini; Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and football star O.J. Simpson.

Jose Morales, the National League's leading pinch-hitter, delivered a three-run pinch homer in the top of the ninth inning to give Montreal a tense victory over New York before a Jacket Night sellout crowd of 53,523 at Shea Stadium.

Morales, who has 14 pinch hits this season, batted against Skip Lockwood after Tim Foli and Jerry White had singled to put runners on first and second. Morales then drove an 0-2 pitch over the left field fence at the 321-foot mark for his fourth homer of the season.

Cardinals 4, Pirates 0
Pete Falcone shut out Pittsburgh on four hits and helped his effort by driving home a run as St. Louis defeated the Pirates. A three-run seventh-inning burst wrapped up the victory for St. Louis.

Reds 5, Giants 1
Johnny Bench sent Cincinnati ahead with a run-scoring single in a four-run eighth inning and the Reds rolled past San Francisco. Bench's hit was one of six singles in the rally which began off Giants' starter John D'Aquisto, 3-6.

Dodgers 5, Astros 4
Dusty Baker slugged a home run with two out in the 11th inning to give Los Angeles a comeback victory over Houston. The home run was Baker's third this season, coming off loser Gene Pentz, 3-2.

Brundage Didn't Think Olympics Would Be Held

By GEOFFREY MILLER
AP Sports Writer

MONTREAL (AP) — Avery Brundage died believing the Olympic Games in Montreal would never take place, his successor disclosed after the Games ended.

Lord Killanin, president of the International Olympic Committee said: "It was the last thing Avery Brundage said to me before he died last year."

"His actual words were 'Those Games in Montreal will never take place.' I told him not to be too sure."

"We have had a lot of worries over Montreal. When I saw Avery Brundage for the last time, there were serious problems over construction of the stadium and other facilities. But we kept faith with Montreal, and in the end the Games did take place and they have been a tremendous success."

Brundage, after 20 years as a gritty and dictatorial president of the IOC, stepped down in favor of the jovial and diplomatic Irish lord in 1972. At that time, Montreal had been awarded the 1976

Olympics, but its troubles — construction delays, labor disputes and a soaring budget — had not begun.

Brundage died in May 1975. Montreal's building program was then in such a precarious state that some IOC leaders were talking of finding another city to take the Games.

The Olympics remain much the same from one host city to another, but the presidential press conference at the end of the Games has changed.

Brundage used to have a blunt answer to every question and never worried about hurting people's feelings. Killanin neatly turns the difficult queries aside, often by using his Irish sense of humor.

A French journalist asked a loaded question about friction between the English and French communities in Quebec Province.

"I am not going to get involved in anything between French and French Canadians," he replied smoothly. "I have too much trouble with Irish and Irish-Americans."

Football Jamboree Just 17 Days Away

One more baseball tournament and two more local golf tournaments and guess what happens besides one sportswriter going berserk.

Ready or not, football season will unofficially get underway two weeks from this Friday. On August 20, the First Annual Murray State Football Jamboree will be held at 7 p. m. in Stewart Stadium.

The following Friday, many teams in western Kentucky begin play. As for Murray High fans, the season opens here September 3 when Reidland visits Holland Stadium.

Eight teams will be in the jamboree. They include Class AA schools Reidland, Murray, Mayfield, Trigg County, Todd Central, Caldwell County and Webster County. Marshall County is the lone Class AAA school in the jamboree.

Admission for the jamboree will be two dollars for adults and one dollar for students with no free passes available. The first game will begin at 7 p. m.

Each team will play two, eight-minute quarters with a break in between. During the break, two other teams will play. There will be no kickoffs, no punt returns, no blocked punts or no hands allowed.

"Actually, here's the way it will work: Quarter number one will find Reidland playing Todd Central, quarter number two will pit Webster County against Caldwell County, Mayfield will play Trigg County in quarter number three and in the fourth quarter, Murray will play Marshall County.

Reidland and Todd will then again resume action for the fifth quarter etc.

Reidland was 7-3 last season, including a 19-14 win over Murray in the opening game of the year for the Tigers. Reidland lost only to Heath, Mayfield and Caldwell County.

The Greyhounds lost heavily by graduation. Gone are quarterback David Powell, wide receiver David Jernigan and of course, the explosive halfback Bruce Austin.

Todd Central finished a poor 3-7 last year. In their game with Murray High, they fell 42-22.

Webster County is the dream of every coach making out his schedule. Last year, Webster County had its usual season, finishing 1-8.

Caldwell County should be a good club again this season. Last year, they were 6-4, including a 26-13 win over Murray.

Mayfield was 9-3 last year with their only losses coming to Heath, Hopkinsville and Green County, the latter of which was a playoff game. Mayfield won a 3-0 game over Murray.

Trigg County had a rebuilding year last season and finished with a 5-6 mark. They fell 13-0 to Murray High.

Marshall County was 2-8 last year and may not be much better off this season. They should repeat their wins over Ballard County and Fulton County.

In their game with Murray High, the Marshalls fell 27-6.

Finally, there's Murray High. The Tigers won four of their last five year to finish with a 5-5 mark. Barring any unforeseen injuries, Murray High could be one of the better ballclubs in the Purchase area.

The jamboree will prove nothing. But it is something to do on a Friday night and for Murray State, it's a great public relations move.

Harold Solomon Wins Louisville Net Classic

By MIKE CLARK
AP Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Harold Solomon, at 5-foot-6 and 130 pounds not exactly a powerful player, knows that keeping the ball in play is the secret to his success in professional tennis. He kept the ball in play Monday night — including some times when it seemed impossible — in defeating Wojtek Fibak of Poland 6-2, 7-5 in the finals of the $125,000 Louisville International Tennis Classic.

In the doubles final, Australians Pat Cramer and Byron Bertram trimmed Stan Smith of Sea Pines, S.C., and Eric Van Dillen of San Mateo, Calif., 6-3, 6-4.

"My return is usually better than my serve, so I expect to break the other man's service," explained Solomon, who won $20,000 for his 90-minute effort. His uncanny ability to return the best that Fibak could offer resulted in six service breaks, three in each set.

"Service doesn't matter against him," said Fibak. "He returns so well, it's just like not serving at all."

Solomon drove Fibak to numerous errors with his baseline-to-baseline volleys, but also showed considerable expertise at the net.

The first point of the final game is a case in point. Fibak sent a dink over the net that appeared well out of Solomon's reach.

"I knew he was going to get it, but I also knew he couldn't do anything with it down there," said Fibak, pointing to his ankle. "He couldn't even get his racket under it, and he had to hit it with the wood."

Solomon picked up the ball with the wooden frame of his racket and somehow rocketed a cross-court winner past the amazed Fibak. The point gave Solomon a 0-15 lead in the final game, which ended when Fibak hit a pair of forehands over the baseline.

"I like to dictate the play," Solomon said. "My game is getting stronger baseline to baseline. I'll go to the net when I have a chance, but for a while there he was hitting volleys within five inches of the baseline, and you can't go to the net then."

Solomon had no trouble winning the first set, breaking Fibak twice in charging ahead 5-0 before settling for a 6-2 decision. But Fibak collected his game early in the second set, breaking Solomon twice for a 3-1 edge and had a 30-40 advantage in the fifth game.

At that point, Solomon gunned in a second service that a surprised Fibak couldn't handle and it was all Solomon from there. He broke Fibak in the sixth game to square the match 3-3, then broke the Pole again at 6-5 to gain his first summer tour victory since 1974.

"Not bad for a makeshift team, huh," said Bertram,

Satchel To Pitch

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Leroy "Satchel" Paige, the legendary Hall of Famer who claims to be "about 70," has agreed to pitch in the San Diego Padres' "Old-Timers" Game on Saturday night.

Paige is now a baseball public relations man in Tulsa, Okla.

Racer Dies

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Race driver Calvin Gilstrap died Monday, three days after he was injured in a sprint car race here, officials said.

Gilstrap, 48, of New Salem, Ind., lost control of his car in a qualifying run. The car flipped over on top of him.

The veteran southern Indiana race driver had been semi-retired from racing and was trying to make a comeback.

BOWLING

DAVENPORT, Iowa — Carmen Salvino of Chicago won four of his last five games to earn top seed for Tuesday's finals of the $60,000 Quad Cities Open bowling tournament.

Deaths and Funerals

Funeral Is Today
At Local Chapel
For Mrs. Coleman

The funeral for Mrs. Mary Lucy Coleman is being held today at one p.m. at the chapel of the Blalock-Coleman Funeral Home with Rev. Leon Penick officiating and Mrs. Olivene Erwin playing the organ.

Serving as pallbearers are Joe Pat, Billy, and Zane Coleman, Harty Culpepper, Raymond Hamlin, and Herman Lovins. Burial will be in the New Concord Cemetery.

Mrs. Coleman, age 82, died Saturday at six a.m. at a hospital in Detroit, Mich. She was a member of the former Sulphur Springs United Methodist Church at New Concord, now consolidated with the New Hope Church in the Good Shepherd Church. Born February 19, 1894, at New Concord, she was the daughter of the late James Parham and Missouri Frances Rowlett Parham.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Will D. (Virginia) Geurin, Royal Oak, Mich., and Mrs. John (Mary Lee) Laterry, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; five sons, Lucian, Tiffin, Ohio, James, Kalamazoo, Mich., Billy, Jacksonville, Ark., Bruce, Rochester, Mich., and Gene, Atlanta, Ga.; one sister, Mrs. Rene Hicks, Highland Park, Mich.; fifteen grandchildren; ten great grandchildren.

Ford Delegate Calls For Resignation Of Colleague

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—A pro-President Ford delegate has called for the resignation of a pro-Ronald Reagan delegate in a tiff over Kentucky tactics at the Republican national convention.

House Minority Leader Harold DeMarcus of Stanford said Olney Owen of Lexington, director of the state Reagan campaign, should resign because he has "insulted" the 37-member GOP delegation.

DeMarcus said Monday he is incensed at what he called Owen's suggestion that Reagan forces might bolt from state requirements and vote for the Californian on the first ballot.

"I don't think another delegate would even consider subverting the will of the people," DeMarcus said. "He should resign because if he has these ideas, he's not fit."

Owen had repeated that there is a faint possibility that the delegation, bound 19 to 18 for Ford on the first ballot, might vote as it wishes in an unusual circumstance—and thus the vote could change to as much as 28-9 in Reagan's favor.

The heavy Reagan majority comes from state and district convention elections last April. The Ford edge stems from the outcome of the May 25 presidential primary.

"My opinion is that everyone except Owen will do that," DeMarcus said. "It's an insult to every delegate to even explore the other possibility."

Owen responded he does not understand "why Harold is incensed."

His remarks on the possible Reagan tactics originally were made shortly after the Kentucky GOP delegation first met at Lexington a few weeks ago.

"I want to emphasize that we have no plans along that line," Owen said. "I just said we're not closing the door 100 per cent, it's pretty good strategy to keep all options open."

Owen said a pro-Reagan bolt by Kentucky delegates would not even be considered unless Reagan's nomination hinged on the handful of votes.

"Under such conditions, I would not eliminate the possibility," he said.

DeMarcus said he knows that no other Reagan delegates would use the tactic "because I know all of them except Mr. Owen—I met him once."

The legislator said the tactic probably involves letting the Kentucky delegation vote 19-18 for Ford, then calling for a polling of delegates before the first ballot officially ends.

"That would be nothing in the world but an immoral act," DeMarcus said.

More Specimens Should Help Explain Viking's Revelations

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Viking 1, the robot detective probing strange activity in the soil of Mars, should get more clues from a second handful of dirt to be dug from the rust-colored surface.

The sample will be studied by a tester that could help determine whether Martian life, or merely an unusual chemical process, is causing the activity that had scientists baffled Monday.

Viking's 10-foot mechanical arm was to reach for a handful of soil today. If successfully deposited in one of the chambers in Viking's automated experimental package, the dirt could yield some clues later this week.

The instrument — a gas chromatograph mass spectrometer — will search for molecules of organic matter which, if found in sufficient amounts and complexity, would strongly suggest living organisms are present.

A hastily organized special scientific team still straddled the fence Monday on the puzzling gas emitted by a dirt sample already inside the minilaboratory.

Soon after a liquid nutrient was fed to the bit of soil last week, gas containing a radioactive tracer in the nutrient began pouring out at a startling rate. Dr. Gil Levin, who heads the team monitoring the experiment, said Monday the gas generation was no longer accelerating and had reached a plateau.

But neither earth organisms nor nonliving chemical processes known to scientists here could explain the rate at which gas was emitted by the soil sample, said Levin.

"Biological responses (in experiments on earth) that started this rapidly have generally continued to evolve gas for a longer period of time," said Levin.

"But the shape of the curve (information plotted on a graph) doesn't fit the shape of nonbiological responses we have seen, either."

"So we're in between."

Since the scientists never have seen anything like the

Strike Keeps Coal Production Delayed

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — A back-to-work movement in Ohio and West Virginia's Northern Panhandle sputtered today as a three-week-old strike kept Eastern coal production at a standstill.

United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller sent telegrams today directing seven UMW district presidents in West Virginia, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Illinois to get their members back to work.

Mines were idle today in West Virginia, where the work stoppage began July 19, and in parts of Virginia, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Illinois and Indiana. The wildcat walkout has idled about half of the nation's 150,000 soft coal miners.

"Everything's zero," said an official at Cannelton Coal Co. at Peytona in Boone County.

About half of UMW District 6, covering Ohio and West Virginia's Northern Panhandle, was out today after working Monday. District President John Guzek said 8,000 of his 16,000 miners were working, compared to 12,000 Monday.

Disease...

cultures could lead to identification of the disease.

Cases of the illness were reported throughout the state. All the persons affected attended the 10-day Legion convention in Philadelphia that ended July 24. The first reports of illness came last Monday; the first death last Friday. It was the mounting death toll Monday that alarmed public health officials.

Bachman was asked if it could be swine flu. "That's a possibility," he said. "We're trying to pin it down, but we don't know right now. But there's no reason to panic, everyone should realize that."

More than one million people from throughout the world are gathered in Philadelphia this week for the Roman Catholic International Eucharistic Congress. Congress officials said they had no plan to curtail activities.

The Center for Disease Control, an arm of the U.S. Public Health Service, dispatched a three-man medical investigative team to Pennsylvania.

Two other virus experts from the CDC were already in the state.

Dr. Michael Gregg, director of the center's Viral Disease Division, said the symptoms reported by victims are similar to influenza, but it was too early, he said, to say whether it was swine flu.

One recruit died when several hundred soldiers at Fort Dix, N.J., contracted swine flu early this year. The outbreak prompted plans for a nationwide immunization campaign this fall. The program is bogged down on issues of insurance protection for the drug companies producing the vaccine for immunization.

Most of those stricken in Pennsylvania were delegates to the Legion convention, although some wives and children who attended with delegates have also fallen ill.

More than 10,000 legionnaires attended the convention. Bachman said the number of dead and sick in the outbreak will not be known until a statewide hospital-by-hospital survey is finished.

Larimer County Sheriff Robert Watson said the death figure could reach 200.

"Who knows what's buried in all this silt? Some farmer will dig down in his corn patch some day and find a body," the sheriff said.

Mrs. Deborah Dunn, granddaughter of Mrs. John Workman, 1508 Parklane, Murray, who is now at Fort Collins, Colorado, at a staff meeting for the Campus Crusade for Christ, called her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Dunn of Atlanta, Ga., Monday night to say that she was safe, but that four of her coworkers in Campus Crusade were listed as dead.

Crusade girls who are dead were on a musical retreat with Rev. and Mrs. Bill Bright and other Crusade workers in Estes Park in the Big Thompson Canyon flood area.

Miss Dunn had just left Atlanta last weekend and only arrived in Fort Collins over the weekend. She has been at College Station, Texas, for the past two years, but will be in San Marcos, Texas, on Campus Crusade for Christ Staff after her staff meeting in Fort Collins, Colo.

Flying close to the craggy canyon walls, military helicopter pilots Monday evening ferried to safety all remaining survivors who wanted to leave. The popular Colorado Rockies vacation spot had been turned into a death trap by a torrential downpour Saturday night.

"Some survivors refused to leave their mountain homes," Watson said. "They were in good shape and thought they could do more good where they were."

Besides the 77 confirmed dead, authorities said 260 persons were injured, an estimated 559 were unaccounted for, and the search for the dead was just beginning.

Officials said the 12-foot wall of water unleashed by the flood was so powerful that many of the dead were found with their bodies stripped of clothing. One body was found 15 miles downstream from the canyon mouth.

"All the bodies will never be recovered," said Watson, who earlier had refused to estimate how high the death toll might reach, saying he feared public "panic and hysteria."

President Ford declared the 2,700-square-mile county a federal disaster area Monday, making local residents eligible for federal relief assistance.

But Colorado Gov. Richard Lamm said it would take three years and $10 million just to rebuild U.S. 34, the once-scenic route that wound 30 miles down the canyon from Estes Park east to Loveland. The road ran beside the Big Thompson River, and little remained of it.

Monday's evacuation flights brought to 1,000 the number of persons lifted from the canyon since the airlift started early Sunday morning. More flights were planned as a precaution. Helicopter pilots said they were so busy dodging other helicopters in the canyon that they might have overlooked someone.

For some of the survivors at the evacuation center, there were joyous reunions with loved ones. For others, the waiting continued, another 24 hours gone and still no word.

On New Terminal

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A low bid of $677,000 has been received for construction of a new terminal at Capital City Airport.

Harney Construction Co. of Wilmore submitted the bid, which is about $47,000 above the cost estimates for the 10,000-square-foot building.

Seven bids were received altogether.
